

FRANKIE NEIL BEATEN

Owen Moran, the Englishman,
Wins in the Sixteenth
Round.

San Francisco, Nov. 22.—Owen Moran, of England, and Frankie Neil, the bantamweight champion of America, met here tonight in a scheduled 20-round boxing contest.

While no championship title was involved, the fact that the winner will soon meet Abe Attell for the world's featherweight title greatly accentuated interest in the outcome. Moran was forced into favoritism this evening at odds of 10 to 5, with prospects that he would enter the ring at odds of 10 to 5. This remarkable change in the betting odds is said to have been caused by large amounts telegraphed from the east to place on the Englishman.

Both lads weighed in at 6 o'clock. Neil failed to tremble the beam at the 122-pound match. He later gave out his weight at 117 pounds. Moran exceeded the contracted 122 pounds by from one-quarter to one-half a pound. Jim Neil, on behalf of Frankie Neil, overlooked the fact that Moran was overweight and declined to claim a forfeit. Seven thousand people filled the pavilion when time was called at 9:55 p. m.

FIGHT BY ROUNDS.

Round 2.—Moran sent Neil tottering with left hook and right swing to the jaw. Neil rushed gamely in and planted a vicious left to the stomach, for which he was rewarded with right and left to the head. It was Moran's round with Moran having the better of the round.

Round 3.—They fought to close quarters and Neil broke it up with a stiff left to the jaw. Neil drove Moran back with a left to the jaw and then followed it furiously at close range. Moran doing great execution with short-arm wallop to the face and head. Moran appeared to slow up somewhat.

Round 4.—Neil like lightning sent two lefts to the jaw and then followed some remarkably fighting at close quarters, both trying desperately to put in a knockout punch. The round was slightly Neil's.

Round 5.—Moran appeared with right to the jaw and a good straight to the knees as Neil backed him against the ropes. He was up quickly and almost sent Neil to the floor with two right hooks and a straight left to the jaw. The bell ended a round that was the Englishman's by a very narrow margin. Neil appeared a bit tired.

Round 6.—Moran swung his right to the jaw and Neil went to the floor for the count of nine. He was up quickly and tried to stall off the round with two lefts to the head and then followed Moran to the ropes. Neil whipped in several body blows as the round ended. Neil seemed to have freshened and made a good showing in this round.

NEIL LANDS HARD ONE.
Round 7.—Neil almost sent Moran through the ropes with a hard left wallop to the body. He repeated it later during a vicious exchange and the men fought at close range to the middle of the ring. Neil punished Moran considerably around the body as the round came to an end. Neil had the advantage of this round.

Round 8.—The pace slackened considerably at this stage. Neil hooked two lefts to the head and then shot his left to the body. Moran retaliating with right to the jaw. A vicious right swing caught Moran on the neck and a moment later Neil swung his left hard to the jaw. Neil had a good lead in this round.

Round 9.—Moran swung right to the body and made Neil groggy with two lefts to the jaw. Neil hung in desperately but Moran went after him determinedly. Moran swung a fearful left to the jaw, and then almost sent his man through the ropes with left and right swings to the jaw. Neil came back gamely, fighting every inch of the way. The bell closed a round that belonged to Moran. The Briton, however, seemed to tire a bit from the fast milling.

Round 10.—Moran jabbed two lefts to the face and both fought viciously at close quarters. Moran drove Neil back with a left swing to the jaw and then swung his left to the head. Moran sent a raking right to the jaw, forcing Neil to cover. Neil took his punishment without a whimper and fought back gamely at all times. It was Moran's round.

Round 11.—Moran drove his man to the ropes with right and left to the body and a raking left to the jaw. Neil almost sent Moran through the ropes with right and left short-arm swings to the jaw and left to all appearances groggy, simply shook his head and kept wading in with the idea of landing one fatal blow. It was Moran's round.

Round 12.—They fought in close, Moran having all the better of a vicious rally. Neil worked in some telling body blows, practically making an even round of it.

Round 13.—Moran swung a hard right to the jaw and Neil came back wildly. Moran slipped to his knees from the impact of Neil's body, and when he got up opened Neil's eye with a hard right to the member. Moran went after his man, raining left and right swings at will. Neil's jaw. The bell saved Neil from defeat.

Round 14.—Neil's right eye was swollen twice its normal size as he stood up only to receive an avalanche of left and right short arm swings to the jaw. Neil stalled desperately and was saved just in the nick of time by the clang of the gong.

Round 15.—Neil came up groggy, with the crowd yelling "Stop it." "Stop it." Moran floured his man with right and left to the jaw, the Californian taking the count of nine. "Stop it." "Stop it," yelled the crowd, realizing that their man was hopelessly beaten. Neil's police threw up the sponge and the bell stopped the unequal fight.

Moran was given the decision by Referee Roach.

The Real Value

If you have headache or neuralgia you want relief; want it quick. Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills stop the pain in just a few minutes. But their real value lies in the fact that they leave no bad after effects. They do not create nausea or derange the stomach. Nothing can therefore take the place of Anti-Pain Pills for the relief of headache or other pain.

"Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills do all that is claimed for them in curing headache and neuralgia. I was in Farmington and I had a fearful headache; the gentleman of the house said, 'Take one of my wife's Yale Pills; and I took one and in less than one-half hour I felt as well as ever. I asked the name of these and he said Dr. Miles' Anti-Pain Pills. I purchased a box and told my family I had found a great relief—something to cure headache. My three daughters also used them. A thousand thanks for such a remedy."

The actors in the football drama tomorrow night tonight some miles from the scene of the impending contest. The Harvard team went twenty miles into the country to seek seclusion at the Norfolk Hunt club at Medfield. An hour was spent in spirited but harmless signal practice.

They will reach the stadium tomorrow by automobiles.

The Yale athletes reached their hotel at Auburndale in the Newton district, last night, and this forenoon the team went to a near-by athletic field for a little limbering up and signal work. The Yale players will go to Cambridge tomorrow on special electric cars. The team from New Haven averages nearly twenty-five pounds heavier than Harvard, while the Yale backfield averages twenty pounds more than that behind the Harvard line. Conney, the Yale left guard, tops the heavyweights with 265 pounds of bone and muscle.

OGDEN FIGHT GOES TWENTY ROUNDS

Unholz-Sullivan Contest a Disappointment to Many Local Fight Fans.

But for the presence of several hundred Salt Lake fans, the attendance at the Unholz-Sullivan fight at the Ogden Opera house last night would have been rather slim. Those who made the trip from Salt Lake to the Junction City were somewhat disappointed for several reasons. The contest was not pulled off on schedule time and as a result Salt Lake fans were late in getting home. The bout was poorly managed. Many persons holding tickets for reserved seats failed to get them.

With the exception of the second, fifth and last four rounds, the fight was uninteresting. To those who saw Sullivan fight "Cyclone" Thompson, his work last night was a disappointment, and it will take a pretty strong argument to convince them that he could not have won last night from Unholz by a big margin.

All that can justly be said of the Boer's ability as a fighter is that he is strong, fairly fast on his feet, but decidedly wild and clumsy. His "style" consists of rushing in head down, with eyes shut and swinging wildly, trusting to luck to land a "haymaker." A boxer with half of Sullivan's cleverness should have no trouble in avoiding punishment from Unholz.

In the second round there was reason to believe the local fight fans would be home long before midnight. The day was devoted to hearing and referring petitions.

The coming parliamentary work is expected to be unusually interesting, especially as it will test Chancellor von Buelow's ability to hold together the incongruous elements composing the government. "Bloc" Conservatives, Liberal group, for the support of its measures. This coalition which was designed primarily to exclude the Clericals from political power, depends for success on the harmonious action of the two conservative parties, the National Liberals and the three Radical groups. The utmost the government can expect is that the group will act together in support of distinctly national measures, like military and civil matters. The budget itself, however, will expose the group to a serious strain particularly in its military features, owing to the heavy increases for the army and navy. The total increase in the expenditures is $38,250,000.

The Clericals and Socialists will endeavor to split the Conservative-Liberal group by offering at every possible opportunity amendments designed to create a breach.

KANT ART COLLECTION.
New York Will Get Most Desirable Part of Famous Paintings.

New York, Nov. 22.—According to published announcement today, there is no doubt that New York will get the most desirable part of the Kant art collection for which a Paris syndicate paid over $5,000,000.

The principal art treasures of the collection have been purchased by J. P. Morgan, Benjamin Altman, the Huntington estate and P. A. B. Widener.

Mr. Altman secures the largest and most valuable part, including several Rembrandts, notably one of the best examples of the master, the great painting "Plate Washing His Hands."

ENGLISH SUFFRAGETTES.

They Virtually Break Up a Meeting Held by Herbert Gladstone.

LONDON, Eng., Nov. 22.—The woman suffragists today virtually compelled Herbert Gladstone, secretary of state for home affairs, to abandon his attempt to address a meeting here. The interruptions from the "suffragettes" became so persistent that Mr. Gladstone desisted he would no longer struggle against such tactics, and brought his speech to a sudden close.

One of the suffragists thereupon tried to take possession of the meeting. While she was speaking a free fight broke out between the men and women of the audience. Mr. Gladstone and his wife went a speedy retreat and the chairman declared the meeting closed.

PRESIDENT APPOINTMENT AIDES.
Washington, Nov. 22.—Three additional aides to the president were appointed today. Capt. R. O. Van Horn as military aide, was appointed from the Seventeenth United States Infantry. He has a distinguished record in the Cuban campaign and has been commended highly by Gen. Wood for his service in the Philippines. Lieut. Thomas Holcomb, Jr., of Delaware, the champion rifle shot of the world, is designated from the marine corps. Capt. Sherwood A. Cheney of the general staff, now on duty at the war college, is the third appointee. These appointments fill the vacancies caused by the retirement last year of Capt. Sheridan, MacArthur and Harding.
